Aaron O'Hare is the Director of Projects for Spiro Coaching Institute.

Aaron holds a master's degree in organizational leadership from Gonzaga University, with concentrations in change management and servant leadership. He has a bachelor's degree in business administration from UNC Chapel Hill and is a Prosci Certified Change Practitioner. He lived in Asia working in non-profit leadership for over a decade prior to joining Spiro Coaching Institute.

Aaron has spent most of his career working at the intersection of culture, leadership, and creativity. His work has ranged from team and team leader development to process improvement and organizational strategy, with a special interest in cross-cultural teams and transnational organizations. Aaron also has experience facilitating innovation and human-centered design, both domestically and internationally.

Aaron and his wife are proud to call North Carolina home.
